

From: E. Jane Wineteer
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/25/02 7:15am
Subject: Microsoft Antitrust Cases

I am totally sick of the government interfering in the legitimate success of American business. Either Americans can handle competition (and benefit from it) or they can't; the market should decide, not the courts.

It appears to me that detractors are simply trying to make money by suing Microsoft rather than turning their efforts to making better products and thus succeeding in the marketplace rather than the courts. I do not think the Justice Department should be a willing party to this activity.

E. Jane Wineteer
ewineteer@kc.rr.com